Land Development Project Announced

The zoning board of Grafton announced that it has decided to grant a development license to PJ Mathers Real Estate for the development of the now defunct 廢止的 waterfront plaza. The application had been bitterly debated in committee with some members of the zoning board wishing to see the site return to its natural state while others adamantly 堅決地 favored economic development of the area.

The waterfront plaza area has been an eyesore 礙眼事物 since 1991 when the builders of a proposed multimillion-dollar hotel and shopping complex went belly up 終止營運 leaving the site a half-finished disaster area. A spokesman for JP Mathers said that they are prepared to turn the fortunes of the site around. "The people of Grafton were the ones harmed by the waterfront plaza fiasco 失敗. We're planning to move in a start from scratch 從新開始. We'll make the area the heart of Grafton."

Zoning board members who supported the JP Mathers application cited several reasons for their approval, including the increased tax revenue that the development would bring in, the willingness of JP Mather to hire local workers, and the success of JP Mathers's recent project, The Commons, located in nearby Breesburg. Opponents insisted that environmental protection should be considered before economic development.

160. What is the article mainly about?

- (A) New jobs
- (B) A development project
- (C) Real estate values
- (D) Environmental protection

161. Why is the waterfront plaza described as a "disaster"?

- (A) It was never completely finished.
- (B) It ruined the environment.
- (C) The cost of development was too high.
- (D) The area is subject to flooding.

162. Which of the following was NOT cited as a reason for support of the application?

- (A) JP Mathers is a member of the zoning board.
- (B) Approval might improve employment conditions.
- (C) Similar projects have been successful in the past.
- (D) The government could increase revenue.

Questions 166-169 refer to the following letter.

November 11

Xing Xiao Marketing

Taipei, Taiwan

Dear Sir,

I recently saw your help wanted ad on the Internet. I feel I am a very strong candidate for the position.

Although I have included my résumé with this letter, I do not feel it tells my complete story. For example, while it is easy to see that my MBA from Harvard identifies me as a highly educated marketing specialist, I tend to think that it is my practical experience and background that make me such a perfect fit for your company.

You see, as a younger woman, I lived and worked in Taiwan (Kaohsiung) as an English teacher at a children's English school. This experience, while not pertaining to 有 關 anything I would do on my job, has given me an excellent understanding of Taiwan and the Taiwanese people. In other words, you would not need to fear "culture shock" in hiring me for the position; I have already lived and worked within the Taiwanese culture.

Further, I also spent several years in Mainland China working as an advisor to the United Nations Economic Development Council. In this role, I came to understand a great deal about the expansion 擴展 of markets in China, one of the areas your ad stressed was an important requirement.

Finally, my husband is a Taiwanese native and he wishes to relocate back to Taiwan. Thus, you can be assured that I am interested in this position as a long-term employment opportunity, not as a temporary position to enhance my international credentials (資歷) 證書.

I have not included letters of reference, but I could do so at your request. If you wish to contact me, feel free to do so at any time. I am also fluent in Mandarin, so you need not fear communication difficulties.

One final note, I will be in Taipei from December 15th through the 27th. If you wish to interview me in person, this would be the ideal opportunity.

Sincerely,

Karen Quentin-Chung

166. Which of the following does Ms. Quentin-Chung feel is her greatest strength?
- (A) Her degree
 - (B) Her marketing experience
 - (C) Her language skills
 - (D) Her previous time in Kaohsiung
167. Why does the letter mention Mainland China?
- (A) She wishes to work there.
 - (B) She has previous experience there.
 - (C) Her husband was born there.
 - (D) She enjoys shopping in the markets there.
168. What is stated as evidence of her long-term commitment to the position?
- (A) The length of her marriage
 - (B) Her international credentials
 - (C) Her experience with the United Nations
 - (D) Her husband's future plans
169. What does Ms. Quentin-Chung NOT offer to do?
- (A) Relocate to Taiwan
 - (B) Be interviewed in Taipei
 - (C) Study Mandarin
 - (D) Provide reference letters

Questions 174-176 refer to the following letter.

Greta Crespin

Pecsflex Exercise Equipment

121 Pacific Blvd

San Diego, CA

Dear Miss Crispin,

I hope you remember me. About a year ago, I purchased a Pecsflex Home Gym from you at your Pacific Boulevard store. At the time I was still on crutches 拐杖 following knee surgery. I told you that I was purchasing the equipment primarily in order to rehabilitate 復健 my leg.

At the time, you convinced me to purchase the Pecsflex Home Gym for two reasons: first, its flexibility 彈性 and compact size 體積小, and second, for its durability 耐用.

Unfortunately, the unit has not been as durable as I had expected.

Recently, the pulley 滑輪 system has begun to break down. Two pulleys at the bottom rear 後方 of the unit have begun to crack 裂痕. The cracks began to appear as I began to exercise with more weight (in accordance with my rehabilitation program). Because the pulleys were located at the bottom of the unit, I was not injured due to the parts failures. However, had one of the pulleys on the top of the unit experienced the same type of failure, I might not have been so lucky.

Because the unit is still under warranty 保固, I expect that you will send a repairman out to fix the unit. However, my greater concern is the safety and durability of the unit. With the warranty about to expire, can I expect other parts to begin failing as well? Am I risking injury in continuing to use this unit? What I would really like to discuss is having the entire unit replaced.

Please contact me at your earliest convenience.

Sam Strythers

(555) 555-8755

174. With what is Mr. Strythers dissatisfied?

- (A) The durability of a product
- (B) The quality of service

- (C) The treatment of an injury
- (D) The size of a piece of equipment

175. What can be inferred from the letter?

- (A) The man was injured by the Pecsflex Home Gym.
- (B) The product has a one-year warranty.
- (C) Greta Crispin has broken a law.
- (D) The pulleys were damaged due to misuse of the equipment.

Questions 177-180 refer to the following document.

Progress Report
Bangladesh Call Center
May 21

Submitted by: Angela Ortiz

I have just returned from my four-day visit to the Bangladesh Call Center, and I can't say that I'm very optimistic about an August 1st opening.

The local project leader, Anand Dorma, seems capable enough but there seem to be no end to the delays. At the time of my visit, the hardware had not yet been installed. In fact, it had not yet even been delivered. Of course, even if it had, it couldn't have been installed because the wiring was also incomplete. Also, only 13 of the expected 37 employees have been hired and none of them have begun training courses as of yet. The only thing on schedule was the interior work: the desks, chairs, and other office furniture looks OK.

My recommendation is for a greater degree of supervision for the project. Perhaps headquarters should send someone to act as on onsite coordinator. That might light a fire under Mr. Dorma and jumpstart 加速 the work. At this pace, however, I think we'll be lucky to get the call center online before October.

A. Ortiz

177. What is the main purpose of the document?

- (A) To report on the progress of a project
- (B) To suggest a schedule revision
- (C) To analyze the efficacy of new equipment
- (D) To inform a friend about a recent vacation

178. Who is Anand Dorma?

- (A) A representative from headquarters
- (B) Angela Ortiz's supervisor
- (C) A hardware installer
- (D) The head of a project

179. Which of the following has NOT been delayed?

- (A) Wiring installation
- (B) Hardware delivery
- (C) Hiring
- (D) Scheduling

180. What does the document imply?

- (A) Mr. Dorma should be replaced by someone from headquarters.
- (B) Ms. Ortiz wants to remain in Bangladesh.
- (C) The project is at least two months behind schedule.
- (D) Some furniture will need to be reordered.

Subject: Recipe submission for holiday line

I saw the notice posted in the break room and wanted to ask a couple of questions before I made my submission. One idea I have is a way to improve a current product of ours. Would this be the appropriate place to share that idea, or are you looking for entirely new recipes? Also, a new recipe idea I have requires some specialty ingredients. Would that be acceptable? I'd like to know before I spend time completing the submission form. You can reply to my email or call me in the shipping department at ext 785.

Questions 191-195 refer to the following news story and e-mail.

e-NOVA Computers Unveils 揭開 Cheap-u-ter

Reggie Nedfrom, the lead designer for e-NOVA Computers, once again promises to revolutionize the computer industry with his newest offering the Cheap-u-ter Laptop. The concept behind the Cheap-u-ter is simple; produce and sell the least expensive, fully functional computer possible. The production of prototypes 原型 has already become a reality. But will they sell?

We were sent a prototype of the Cheap-u-ter here at the offices of Computer Day Magazine and were invited to put the machine through its paces. Here are our early impressions.

The unit is very light. It seems that the shell is made mostly of lightweight plastic. Also, because the unit is powered by a solid-state flash drive 固態硬碟, there is no heavy hard disk to weigh the unit down.

The LCD screen is small and of poor quality compared with other low-end monitors. However, it is useable and functionality is the point with the Cheap-u-ter.

The unit is wireless-Internet-capable, but we were unable to get it working. Perhaps in an effort to cut costs, the quality of the wireless antenna was sacrificed. Given 考慮到 the prevalence 普遍 of wireless Internet connections in the world today, this is an issue that ought to be addressed. Also, had we been able to connect, according to the user's manual, we could only have achieved a 10MB connection. In this broadband world, however, won't such a slow connection be a deal breaker?

All in all, the unit does deliver on its promise: it's cheap at only $99.99. The question remains, "Is it too cheap?"

Subject: Unfair commentary

Of course, you are entitled to your opinion, but your criticism of the Cheap-u-ter is ridiculous. You disparage 輕視 it for not being something it is NOT INTENDED TO BE. The unit is designed for use in the developing world, not for use by spoiled Americans.

As for your complaints about not being able to achieve a wireless connection, it is not likely a problem with the unit. It's more likely an issue with your network. I assume you use a broadband 802.11g intranet. However, the Cheap-u-ter will only connect to an 802.11b, the standard in Africa and South America. Why don't you think before you write?

Finally, as to your comment about the unit being TOO cheap, ask some poor school child living in a third world slum 貧民窟 if it's too cheap. I'm trying to bring technology to the world while you have nothing but smug 自鳴得意 criticism.

191. What is the main advantage of the Cheap-u-ter?

- (A) Its availability in the third world
- (B) Its light weight
- (C) Its functionality
- (D) Its price

192. What do the writers of the article imply?

- (A) The new product may not sell well.
- (B) The computer needs a hard drive.
- (C) There is already a similar product available on the market.
- (D) e-NOVA Computers needs to do more advertising.

193. What do the writers of the article criticize most harshly?

- (A) The size of the monitor.
- (B) The Internet connection
- (C) The weight of the hard drive.
- (D) The effort to cut costs

194. What is the tone of the e-mail?

- (A) Confrontational adj. 衝突的
- (B) Conciliatory adj. 妥協的
- (C) Pleasant
- (D) Laudatory adj. 讚賞的

195. Which of the following is NOT addressed in the e-mail?

- (A) The attitude of the editors
- (B) The reason for connection troubles
- (C) The market for the Cheap-u-ter
- (D) The price of providing broadband service
