■ Climate change

Global warming is the gradual increase in the average temperature of the earth's atmosphere, and is caused by harmful gases. Many environmentalists believe that most of this pollution is the result of human activities. Here are some of the effects:

- As the ice at the poles melts, sea levels could rise by almost a meter in the next century.
- There will be more extreme and unpredictable weather, e.g. heatwayes or floods.
- The earth will become even warmer because the rainforests are disappearing.
- Famine and disease will spread, and this will especially affect people in poor countries.

Ex. The butter melted in the frying pan.

word family:

Her anger melted away when she read the letter.

Types of disaster

Disasters related to extreme weather events such as floods, cyclones, hurricanes, blizzards, droughts occur regularly. Events related to extremes of the earth's geology such as earthquakes, volcanic eruptions occur less frequently, but result in major consequences when they happen. Tsunamis often result from earthquakes. Avalanches result from massive accumulations of snow.

Disasters are commonly categorized by their origin; natural or man-made. Most disasters investigated in the literature are natural disasters. Recently, however, industrial accidents have been categorized as disasters. The Bhopal gas release and the Chernobyl nuclear accident are two examples of a man-made disaster. Forest fires (initiated by man) may be another example.

Disasters may occur suddenly in time, or they may develop over a period of time. Most occur suddenly and perhaps unexpectedly. However, some events develop gradually, including some floods and famines related to drought.

9 disaster [dɪˈzæstə] (n) 災難

Ex. The oil spill was a disaster for Alaskan sea animals.

word family:

- The whole production was just a total disaster.
- Climate change could have disastrous effects on Earth.

10 occurə'kɜ 發生、存在

Ex. There were car pileups occurring on a four-lane expressway. word family:

- The plant occurs naturally throughout South America.
- It occurs to me that it is a national holiday, so I can have a day off.
- Flooding in the area is a common occurrence.
