Unit 1 Finance

Banking

The easiest way to get cash from your savings or checking account is to use your debit card and PIN number at an ATM machine, but you can also complete a variety of transactions inside a bank. If you want to deposit a check or withdraw money, the bank teller can do that for you. While you are at the bank, you might want to check your balance or perhaps talk to a financial advisor to discuss different ways you can invest your money to get a better interest rate. Or you might want to borrow money to buy a house or set up a business. The bank will approve the loan if you have a good credit rating. Of course, nowadays, you can also pay your bills, transfer funds, and even apply for loans online.

Investments

Saving and investing your money in a profitable way takes both skill and luck. You should keep some money liquid, which means that you can access it immediately. This money should be used to pay regular expenses and debts. The capital that is left could be invested in a long-term deposit or a bond, where you will get a better interest rate. The next level of investing is either to purchase stocks in companies or to buy property. Both investment strategies carry risks, so it is important to diversify your investments. This means that your money should not be put in just one company or just one kind of company. If you can't study the stock market regularly, you can go to a financial advisor for help. These experts will design a portfolio that fits your specific needs depending on your total assets, and they will make the financial transactions for you. For this service, they take a commission.

Property

For most people, buying a residence is the most important purchase they will make. Because it is so expensive to buy a single-family house or just an apartment within a building, buyers usually finance their purchase by making a down payment on a percentage of the agreed price and taking out a mortgage on the remaining balance. Most people arrange the buying and selling through a real estate agent, or realtor, who receives a fee or commission. Usually a prospective buyer makes an offer for a property and if they make a deal with the owner, he or she accepts the offer. Some people buy property as an investment. Typically they will renovate and then rent out or lease the property, either furnished or unfurnished, through a realtor. These include commercial spaces as well as residential housing, both downtown and in the suburbs. The landlord signs a contract with the tenant(s), which includes details about the rights and responsibilities of each party.
